

PROBING THE ORIGINS OF THE COSMOS

J. Khoury, PI, Waterloo, ON

Abstract

This talk reviews early-universe theories that explain the observed large-scale homogeneity and isotropy of our universe, as well as generate scale-invariant primordial density perturbations to seed structure formation. I will also discuss key observational signatures, in particular non-Gaussianity.

CONTRIBUTION NOT RECEIVED